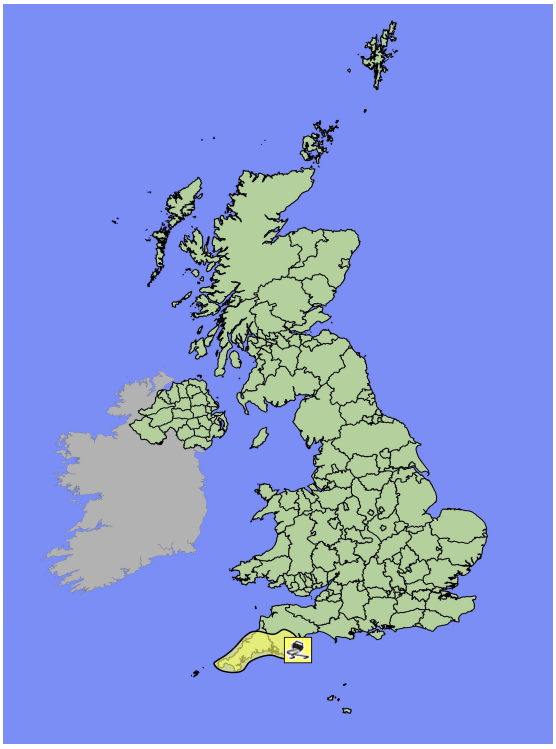
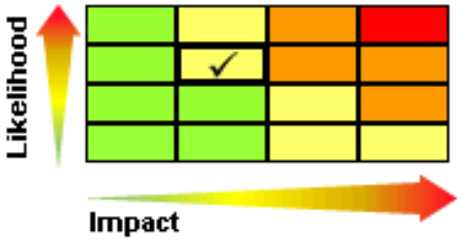
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Showers during Tuesday evening will fall as snow over the Moors and may give 1-3 cm of snow locally above 200 metres, particularly in south Dartmoor. Ice will become the main hazard over Dartmoor and Bodmin Moor during the evening, becoming more widespread at all levels overnight.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 18:00 on Tue, 31st Jan 2012 until 11:00 on Wed, 01st Feb 2012

Showers of rain, falling as sleet or snow inland, are expected to affect parts of Cornwall and Devon later on Tuesday, moving away to the west by the early hours of Wednesday. Clearing skies will then lead to ice developing and the public should be aware that extra care will be needed on untreated roads and pavements.
